Dear Lori and Lenard,

Here is a copy of the final programme, a sequence of which we filmed with you. It has undergone some strenuous editorial changes as there was a lot to include, and 51 minutes is really far too short for what I wanted to say.

The powers-that-be felt that as there were no other individuals to contest your beliefs, (the British have this thing about bias !), I had to inject a slightly sardonic note into some of my commentary, but I hope that this was done skilfully enough not to counter the power of your beliefs and the very persuasive arguments you put forward. Many of those who have seen the programme fell that your contribution was very convincing and gave them much food for thought.

Still, I hope you enjoy it and feel your sequence has been fairly treated. Many thanks for your very generous help, and good luck for the future. Let's hope the earth changes are postponed through all our efforts.

I had hoped to put your web site on-screen, but the television company simply did not allow this - God knows why - but the only information they allow is their own web site. I am hoping to develop the handbook as I discussed and will be in touch should this happen.

Apparently there is great interest in the States, so when we know what's happening we'll contact you. But I am about to change my own life course so it may be that a representative of the television company will keep you up to date.

In the meantime, many thanks for your help and friendly co-operation. Sally sends her love, and much enjoyed meeting you both. All the best for the future - I'll be looking at your web site !

Very best wishes,

Lawrence Moore
